Rhythmic Music Conservatory (RMC) BMus MPro
CURRICULUM FOR THE BACHELOR PROGRAMME IN MUSIC
(MUSIC PRODUCTION)

Introduction

This curriculum for the Bachelor Music (Music Production) study programme has been compiled to section 39 of Executive Order no. 1324 of 23 November 2023 on the Academies of Music and the Opera Academy and section 20 of Executive Order no. 1244 of 11 December 2009 on Marking Scales and Other Forms of Assessment at Certain Educational Institutions under the Danish Ministry of Culture (the Assessment Order).

This curriculum shall enter into force on 30 April 2024 and shall apply to all undergraduates who commence their study programme in August 2024 or later.

1. Title, entrance requirements, admission

1.1 Title

The study programme conveys the right to the Danish title bachelor i musik (BMus) (musikproduktion).

In English, the title is Bachelor of Music (BMus) (Music Production).

1.2 Entrance requirements

The entrance requirement for the Bachelor study programme is a passed entry examination. The decision on whether to admit an applicant is taken by the Conservatory on the basis of a concrete assessment of the applicant's abilities and skills. The requirements of the music profession are also taken into consideration in the admission process.

1.3 Rules for admission

Application for admission must be made online by the appointed digital application platform.

The Conservatory lays down detailed rules on the form and content of the admission procedure. Within these rules, the Conservatory lays down further detailed rules on the form and content of the entry examination.

Information on the form and content of the entry examination is available at the Conservatory's website.

2. Programme aims and learning outcomes

2.1 Programme aims

The Bachelor programme qualifies the student for work as a music producer within contemporary rhythmic music, and for contributing artistically and pedagogically in relevant collaborations with professionals and non-professionals. The Bachelor programme is an independent, rounded-off study programme that provides students with a foundation to pursue further studies at Masters level.

2.2 Learning outcomes

Pursuant to the applicable Danish qualifications framework for programmes of higher education, the learning outcome goals for the study programme are formulated in three general categories:

Knowledge, which refers to the student's knowledge and understanding;

Skills, which refer to the student's central abilities;

Competencies, which refer to the student's personal and independent application of knowledge and skills.

The learning outcomes describe the student's anticipated benefit from the programme at the conclusion of the learning process.

The focus is on the learning process and on each student's learning outcomes, rather than on the intention of a particular teaching or teacher.

At the conclusion of the Bachelor programme, it is expected that the student will have achieved the following learning outcomes at a fundamental level:

2.2.1 Skills

The student must:

- Be capable, through music production, of creating and communicating music and musical experiences characterised by an independent artistic expression;
- Possess skills in music production, and other technical skills, that develop and support the student's artistic and arts educational profile;
- Be capable of developing and practising arts educational practice;
- Be capable of developing, planning, implementing and evaluating artistic and arts educational projects, both alone and in collaboration with others;
- Be able to assess artistic and arts educational challenges and to substantiate and select qualified, creative expressions and solutions;
- Be able to place own artistic practice in a national and international context;
- Be capable of communicating reflections on artistic processes and arts educational processes and results to both professionals and non-professionals;
- Be able to apply and relate insight into methods and practices within artistic development work in own artistic practice;
- Be able to apply and relate insight into art and cultural issues and conditions of the musical life, related to one's own professional practice;
- Possess skills in relation to creating and further developing one's employment.

2.2.2 Knowledge

The student must:

- Possess knowledge of theory, practices and methods within music production;
- Possess knowledge about the role of the music producer as initiator, facilitator and as a collaborational partner;
- Possess insight into methods and practices within artistic development work;
- Possess the ability to reflect on both artistic and arts educational processes and results;
- Possess insight into group dynamics, forms of collaboration and roles in music production;
- Possess insight into theory, practice and methods in composition and related musical elements and structures;
- Possess insight in theory, practice and methods within music education;
- Possess insight into art and culture- related matters, both in the present as well as historically in relation to music;
- Possess insight into current conditions of professional work;
- Possess knowledge of approaches to translating ideas and possibilities into value.

2.2.3 Competencies

The student must:

- Be able to handle complex and development-oriented situations in educational or work contexts;
- Be able to independently engage in professional and interdisciplinary collaborations and networks;
- Be capable of identifying one's own learning needs and independently acquiring new knowledge and skills.

3. Structure and subject areas

3.1 Structure, subjects, projects, etc.

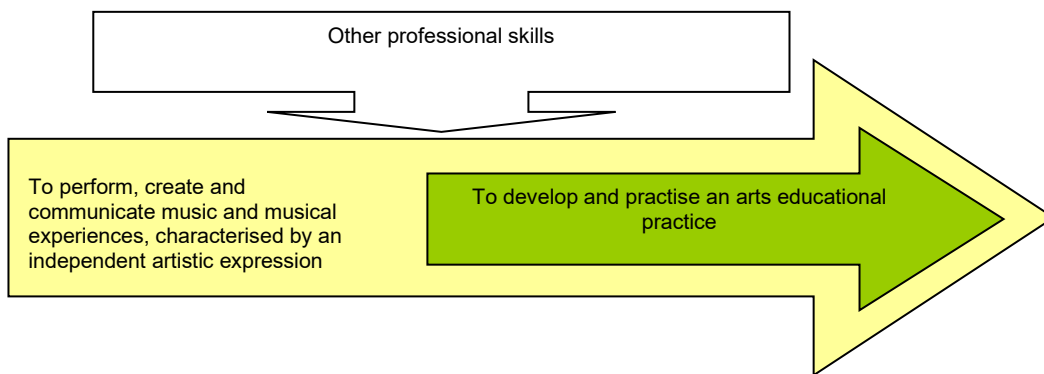

In its structure, the primary focus of the study programme is to enable the student to develop as a performing and creative music producer (yellow arrow).

The student will moreover acquire a number of basic educational qualifications based on an artistic foundation (green arrow).

Central to the programme are the programme’s main subjects, Music Production and Music Education.

The other educational activities of the programme (white arrow) are directed at developing and supporting the student’s artistic and arts educational practice.

Fig. 1 Structure of the programme

The other educational activities are divided into a number of subject areas.
 The study programme concludes with the Bachelor Project.

Fig. 2 Subject areas of the programme

3.1 Programme structure

The Bachelor programme corresponds to 180 ECTS points, equivalent to three years of full-time study. A year of full-time study includes teaching, independent study, tests and all other study-related activities.

The locations of the subjects and projects, and their ECTS values, are shown in the figure below.

3.2 Course registration

3.2.1 The programme is organised in a progressive academic sequence, and each student is automatically registered for courses in accordance with the programme curriculum.

3.2.2 In special cases, the Conservatory may permit students to take courses and examinations corresponding to up to 30 ECTS in a Master's programme.

3.3 Prerequisites

Any special prerequisites will be set out in the course plan for each subject or project.

3.4 Organisation of the teaching

The teaching is mainly provided within a particular year group; however, the subjects and projects may also be provided in classes of students drawn from various years and/or study programmes.

Before a year of study commences, a course plan is compiled for each subject or project. For each subject or project, the course plan contains information on its organisation, credits, premises and equipment, and class composition. In subjects where assessment is based on attendance at classes, etc., the course plan will include specific requirements towards assignments and/or presentations.

The course plan is approved by the Principal and may be viewed on the Conservatory's intranet at the start of the semester.

4. Assessment

4.1 Object

The aim of assessment is to evaluate whether the student's qualifications comply with the programme's learning outcomes.

4.2 Rules for assessment

At Rhythmic Music Conservatory (RMC), assessment of the student's qualifications can take place in three ways:

A. Assessment on the basis of examinations at which the student's proficiency is assessed by teachers, possibly supplemented by internal and/or external examiners. The assessment awarded is a grade from the seven-point scale, possibly supplemented by a written statement, or the assessment Approved/Not approved.

B. Assessment on the basis of a submitted assignment, where the student's proficiency is assessed by teachers, possibly supplemented by internal and/or external examiners. The assessment awarded is a grade from the seven-point scale, or the assessment Approved/Not approved.

C. Assessment on the basis of the student's active subject-specific participation in the course. The assessment awarded is Approved/Not Approved.

4.3 Other provisions

All subjects must be passed before a diploma can be issued for a successfully completed study programme.

Students who depart the study programme without completing it are entitled to documentation indicating in ECTS points the parts of the study programme that have been passed.

The programme is organised in a progressive sequence, and each student is automatically registered for assessment in accordance with the student's location in the study programme.

In the process of the composition of examination panels, it must in the planning be ensured that all students at the same assessment in the same subject are dealt with equally in terms of the participation of their own teacher in the examination panel.

Information on other rules governing assessment in examinations, class attendance, etc., is available on the Conservatory's intranet.

4.4 First year assessment

The Conservatory will automatically register the student for the first-year assessment prior to the end of the second semester after commencing the Bachelor programme.

In order to continue the Bachelor programme, the student must pass the first-year assessment before the end of the fourth semester.

The Conservatory may grant exemptions from this provision under special circumstances.

In the Bachelor programme, the first-year assessment is held at the end of the second semester in the subject Music Production.

4.6 Calculation of standard pages

When the descriptions refer to the size of the syllabus or written assignments, the pages referred to are in all cases standard pages of 2,400 characters (including spaces). The front cover, table of contents, bibliography and appendices do not count towards the size of the written assignments.

Written assignments may deviate from the specified number of pages by at most +/- 10%.

5. Other provisions

5.1 Language

The language of instruction is usually Danish, but teachers may provide teaching in English to individuals or small groups as necessary.

RMC also offers selected courses in English. The course plan will state the language in which each of the courses is taught.

Non-Danish-speaking students may choose to write their assignments or take their examinations in one of the other Scandinavian languages, or in English.

5.2 Rules for practical training

Any internship elements in the study programme are described in the subject descriptions and course plans for the subjects.

5.3 Rules for credit transfer

5.3.1 Equivalence

Approved programme elements taken at an academy of music that offers a study programme under the Education Order are equivalent to corresponding programme elements at other academies that offer the same programme of study.

5.3.2 Credit agreement

Credit for programme elements may be obtained under the academies' joint credit agreement.

8.3 Other credit

Study programme elements passed as part of another non-completed Danish or foreign course of higher education may substitute for study programme elements covered by the Education Order, subject to the decision of the Conservatory in each individual instance, or in accordance with rules laid down by the Conservatory.

5.4 Disciplinary measures

Students at the Rhythmic Music Conservatory are subject to the Conservatory's rules of conduct. Students are required to be familiar with and keep themselves informed of the rules. The rules of conduct may be viewed on the Conservatory's intranet.

5.5 Attendance

Attendance is compulsory at tuition and related activities at the Conservatory. The Conservatory shall lay down specific regulations for procedures and sanctions towards students who fail to observe the Conservatory's rules for attendance. The rules for attendance may be viewed on the Conservatory's intranet.

5.6 Evaluation

The study programme is subject to continuous evaluation through systematic evaluation procedures. The Conservatory shall lay down the specific procedures for the evaluations.

5.7 Exemptions

The Conservatory may grant exemptions from any rules in the curriculum that are determined solely by the Conservatory.

6. Subject descriptions

Subject description: Music Production

The main subject course Music Production aims to provide the students with the musical and artistic skills, qualifying for professional work within music production.

Through the course, students are familiarised with the conceptual world of music production, tradition, history, aesthetics, mechanisms, working processes, methods and technologies. In the practical exercises and their own productions, students practice putting all these things into play and thus develop and challenge their independent expression.

The subject is the core of the programme, in which the student, in a process and product-oriented practice, develops his/her artistic practice.

The course includes reflection on artistic process, context and result.

The focal point of the working process is the individual or collectively based artistic work developed in the student's work with music production.

Learning outcomes

At the conclusion of the course in Music Production in the sixth semester, the student must:

- Be capable, through music production, of creating, practising and communicating music and musical experiences characterised by an independent artistic expression;
- Possess skills in music production, and other technical skills, that develop and support the student's artistic and arts educational profile;
- Be capable of developing, planning, implementing and evaluating artistic projects as a project owner and in collaboration with others;
- Possess knowledge about the role of the music producer as initiator, facilitator and as a collaborational partner;
- Possess knowledge of theory, practice and methods within music production;
- Possess insight into practices and methods within artistic development work;
- Possess insight into group dynamics, forms of collaboration and roles in music production;
- Be able to assess artistic challenges, choose qualified, creative forms of expression, and make and justify artistic choices;
- Be able to place his or her own artistic practice in a national and international context;
- Be able to reflect critically on artistic processes and results;
- Be able to communicate reflections on artistic processes and results to professionals and non-professionals;
- Be able to apply and relate insight into methods and practices in artistic development work in own, artistic practice;
- Be able to handle complex and development-oriented situations in educational or work contexts;
- Be able to independently engage in professional and interdisciplinary collaborations and networks;
- Be capable of identifying one's own learning needs and independently acquiring new knowledge and skills.

Content, common for all semesters

The teaching is based on the individual student's qualifications and artistic practice, and includes the following three areas:

- The role of the music producer as an initiator and facilitator
- The role of the music producer as a project owner and leader of development
- Recording, editing, mixing, mastering
- Development and qualification of own productions and the productions of others through exercises, experiments and investigation of forms of collaboration
- Studio and concert production
- Group dynamics and role positions
- Oral feedback
- Reflection on practice
- Music, sound and experiences put into words
- Knowledge of methods and method development within music production
- Artistic and entrepreneurial contextualization

Specific content for each semester

1st semester

Semester 1 is an introductory course where the elements of the subject are introduced at a basic level and where an understanding of the different academic disciplines, typical methods and the individual student's current practice is established.

2nd semester

Semester 2 focuses on the role of the music producer as initiator. Through exercises and examples, students work to establish a basic knowledge and insight into the skills needed in the role of initiator in music production.

3rd semester

Semester 3 has a special focus on the music producer's role as a facilitator. Through exercises and examples in recording and performance situations, students explore and experiment with group collaborations aimed at common goals.

4th semester

Semester 4 focuses on building on the music producer's role as facilitator through concrete and independent work on the development and qualification of two major, self-selected projects.

Teaching and working modes

The teaching takes the form of scheduled teaching modules. It includes group lessons and individual instruction, guidance and preparation, practical work and optional field trips, as well as project work with evaluations and presentations.

Assessment

- Semester assessment I, end of the first semester
- Semester assessment II, end of the second semester
- Semester assessment III, end of the third semester
- Semester assessment IV, end of the fourth semester

Examination description, semester assessment I

Content

The examination consists of two parts – work presentation and interview:

- Work presentation: The student presents the results of the previous semester's work: Finished productions, which are the results of the student's independent, artistic work as well as the results of the student's work on assignments set during the course of the programme in recording and mixing. In addition, the student must present a credit list of all participants and their own role in the productions presented.
- Oral presentation, where the student:
 - Explains his/her assessment of what works well in the works presented and how and to what extent he/she has succeeded in achieving an independent artistic expression in the productions presented;
 - Reflects on the differences between the initiator and facilitator roles, on the differences between composition and production, and on their own practice in relation to this;
- Interview where the test panel asks questions about the work presentation with a focus on identifying the student's learning needs.

Duration

- Work presentation, 10 minutes of which finished productions 7 minutes and results of set tasks 3 minutes;
- Oral presentation, 5 minutes
- Interview, 10 minutes
- Assessment process, including disclosure of the examination result, 10 minutes.

Assessment

- The examination performance is awarded the assessment Approved/Not approved.
- The basis for assessment consists of the work presentation, the oral presentation, the interview and the presented credit list.
- The assessment is based on an overall evaluation of the extent to which the examination performance meets the learning outcomes for the subject, taking into account the location of the examinations in the study programme.
- In the assessment, particular emphasis is on the artistic result and the student's reflections on the differences in the roles of initiator and facilitator, as well as on composition and production in relation to their own work

 - Digital documentation of two fully produced projects, each with a duration of 7½ minutes. In two separate audio files.
Submission format/audio: WAV or MP3. Total duration: 15 minutes.
- Credit list of all participants and their own role in the submitted productions.

Subject description: Bachelor Project

For the music producer, it is of crucial importance to possess knowledge and skills in independent project work.

In the Bachelor Project, the student develops and carries out an extensive project within the field of the main subject Music Production.

In this work, students apply and utilise their overall professional skills, knowledge and competencies. Students are thus given an opportunity to give their Bachelor study programmes an individual profile, and the project can thereby serve as an indicator in relation to the student’s future career and educational choices.

Learning outcomes

At the conclusion of the teaching in the Bachelor Project in the sixth semester, the student must:

- Be able to develop, plan, implement and evaluate a large, independent project within a topic of the student’s choice that lies within the field of Music Production;
- Be capable, through music production, of creating and communicating music and musical experiences, characterised by an independent artistic expression;
- Possess skills in music production, and other professional skills, that develop and support the project;
- Possess knowledge of theory, practice and methods, within music production;
- Possess insight into theory, practice and methods within artistic development work;
- Be able to apply and relate insight into methods and practices in artistic development work in own, artistic practice;
- Be able to assess artistic challenges and make and justify artistic choices;
- Be able to place his or her own artistic practice in a national and international context;
- Be able to reflect, both orally and in writing, on artistic processes and results;
- Be able to communicate reflections on artistic processes and results to professionals and non-professionals;
- Be able to handle complex and development-oriented situations in educational or work contexts;
- Be capable of identifying one’s own learning needs and independently acquiring new knowledge and skills.

Content

The course is based on the student’s project and includes the following areas:

- Project development, artistic idea development included;
- Work creation through music production, composition/songwriting, improvisation and/or arrangement;
- Developing and planning of a public work presentation
- Development of a coherent, recorded and fully produced musical work
- Artistic idea development
- Contextualisation – being able to place one’s own artistic practice in a national and international context

- Oral and written reflections on the process – artistic choices and methodology, dialogue with networks and professional environments, etc.
- Oral and written reflections on the result – identification of learning outcome and needs;
- Communication of reflections on artistic processes and results to colleagues
- Project work
- Preparation of preview of the project and/or the work presentation as a public dissemination to a wider audience.

The course is defined through a project description, in which the student in dialogue with the project tutor formulates goals, which, in their theme and content, must reflect and support the learning outcomes stated in the subject description as well as a work plan for the project.

Teaching and working modes

The course includes both group lessons and individual instruction, guidance and preparation, and project work.

Group lessons include presentation of partial results for fellow students and critical dialogue, related to the presentation.

The individual instruction includes project tuition and supportive special academic instruction.

Assessment

At the end of sixth semester.

Examination description

Before the exam, the student compiles a project folder, containing fully produced recorded music. Furthermore, the project folder must contain a project description and a written reflection

Content

The examination is in two parts – presentation and interview:

- Presentation: A public work presentation as a listening session, a display, an exhibition, a performance, a concert or similar.
- Interview: An interview in which the test panel asks questions relating to the student's presentation and to the project folder.

Duration

- Presentation 20 minutes
- Initial assessment 20 minutes
- Interview 10 minutes
- Assessment process and disclosure of the examination result 15 minutes

Assessment

- A grade from the seven-point scale and a written statement are awarded for the examination performance.
- The assessment is based on the student's presentation, project folder and interview;
- The assessment is based on an overall evaluation of the extent to which the examination performance meets the learning outcomes for the subject.

- In the assessment, special emphasis is placed on the student's ability to, as being the artistic responsible, create a music experience in the room, at the student's artistic and professional level, as well as on the student's ability to reflect.
- The written statement addresses the student's artistic and academic level, and consists of two elements, formulated by the examination panel:
