Rhythmic Music Conservatory (RMC) BMus MPro
CURRICULUM FOR THE BACHELOR PROGRAMME IN MUSIC
(MUSIC PRODUCTION)

Introduction

This curriculum for the Bachelor of Music programme (Music production) has been compiled pursuant to section 38 of Executive Order no. 1476 of 1 October 2020 on the Academies of Music and the Opera Academy and section 20 of Executive Order no. 1244 of 11 December 2009 on Marking Scales and Other Forms of Assessment at Certain Educational Institutions under the Danish Ministry of Culture (the Assessment Order).

This curriculum shall enter into force on 17 May 2021 and shall apply to all undergraduates who commence their study programmes in August 2021 or later.

1. Title, entrance requirements, admission

1.1 Title

The study programme conveys the right to the Danish title bachelor i musik (BMus) (musikproduktion).

In English, the title is Bachelor of Music (BMus) (Music Production).

1.2 Entrance requirements

The entrance requirement for the Bachelor study programme is a passed entry examination. The decision on whether to admit an applicant is taken by the Conservatory on the basis of a concrete assessment of the applicant's abilities and skills. The requirements of the music profession are also taken into consideration in the admission process.

1.3 Rules for admission

Applications for admission must be made online through RMC's Varbi Admission system

The Conservatory lays down detailed rules on the form and content of the admission procedure. Within these rules, the Conservatory lays down further detailed rules on the form and content of the entry examination.

Information on the form and content of the entry examination is available at the Conservatory's website.

2. Programme aims and learning outcomes

2.1 Programme aims

The Bachelor programme qualifies the student for work as a music producer within contemporary rhythmic music, and for work as a music teacher. The Bachelor programme is a discrete study programme that provides students with a foundation to pursue further studies at Master's level.

2.2 Learning outcomes

Pursuant to the applicable Danish qualifications framework for programmes of higher education, the learning outcome goals for the study programme are formulated in three general categories:

Knowledge, which refers to the student's knowledge and understanding;

Skills, which refer to the student's central abilities;

Competencies, which refer to the student's personal and independent application of knowledge and skills.

The learning outcomes describe the student's anticipated benefit from the programme at the conclusion of the learning process.

The focus is on the learning process and on each student's learning outcomes, rather than on the intention of a particular teaching or teacher.

At the conclusion of the Bachelor programme, it is expected that the student will have achieved the following learning outcomes at a fundamental level:

2.2.1 Skills

The student must:

- Be capable, as a music producer, of creating and communicating music and musical experiences borne by an independent artistic expression;
- Possess skills in music production, and other technical skills, that develop and support the student's artistic and educational profile;
- Be capable of developing and practising artistically-based teaching;
- Be capable of developing, planning, implementing and evaluating projects, both as a project owner and in collaboration with others;
- Be able to assess artistic, communicative and educational challenges and substantiate and select qualified, creative expressions and solutions;
- Be able to place his or her own artistic practice in a national and international context;
- Be capable of communicating reflections on artistic processes and educational processes and results to both colleagues and non-specialists;
- Be able to apply and relate knowledge of methods and practices in artistic development work in own, artistic practice;
- Be able to apply and relate knowledge of art and cultural issues and conditions of the musical life, related to one's own professional practice;
- Possess skills in relation to creating and strengthening one's employment as a music producer and teacher;

2.2.2 Knowledge

The student must:

- Possess knowledge of practices and methods within music production;
- Possess knowledge about the role of the music producer as artistic leader, as artistic project owner and as facilitator;
- Possess knowledge of methods and practices, related to artistic development work;
- Possess the ability to reflect on both artistic and educational processes and results;
- Possess insight into musical elements, structures and contexts;
- Be familiar with key pedagogical and learning concepts and theories, and with various practices in teaching;
- Be aware of artistic and cultural issues in relation to musical life, both contemporary and historically;
- Possess insight into current conditions of professional work as a music producer and as a teacher;
- Possess knowledge of approaches to translating ideas and possibilities into value.

2.2.3 Competencies

The student must:

- Be able to handle complex and development-oriented situations in educational or work contexts;

Rhythmic Music Conservatory (RMC) BMus MPro
CURRICULUM FOR THE BACHELOR PROGRAMME IN MUSIC
(MUSIC PRODUCTION)

- Be able to independently engage in professional and interdisciplinary collaborations and networks;
- Be capable of identifying one's own learning needs and independently acquiring new knowledge and skills.

3. Structure and subject areas

3.1 Structure, subjects, projects, etc.

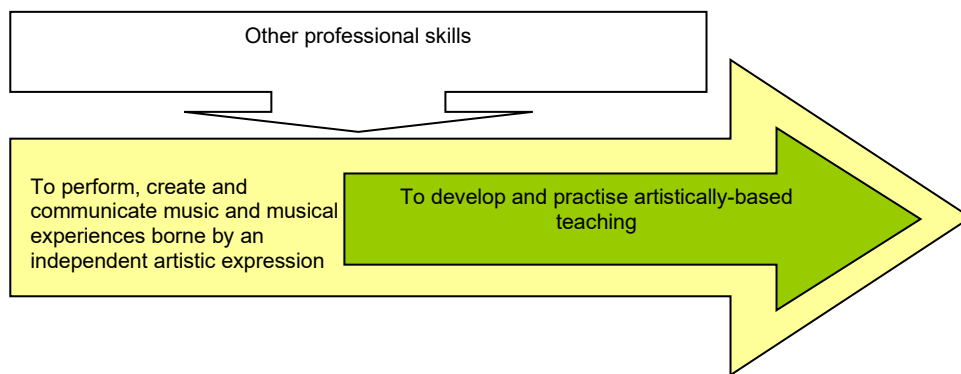

In its structure, the primary focus of the study programme is to enable the student to develop as a performing and creative music producer (yellow arrow).

The student will moreover acquire a number of basic teaching qualifications on an artistic foundation (green arrow).

Central to the programme are the programme’s main subjects, Music Production and Music Education and Learning.

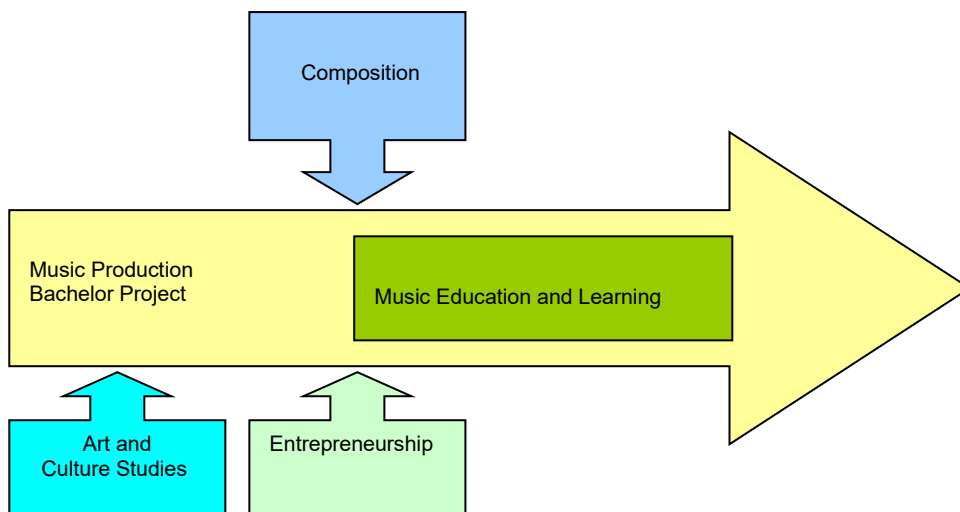

The other educational activities of the programme (white arrow) are directed at developing and supporting the student’s artistic and educational profile.

Fig. 1 Structure of the programme

The other educational activities are divided into a number of subject areas.
 The study programme concludes with the Bachelor Project.

Fig. 2 Subject areas of the programme

3.1 Programme structure

The Bachelor programme corresponds to 180 ECTS points, equivalent to three years of full-time study. A year of full-time study includes teaching, independent study, tests and all other study-related activities.

The locations of the subjects and projects, and their ECTS values, are shown in the figure below.

3.2 Course registration

3.2.1 The programme is organised in a progressive academic sequence, and each student is automatically registered for courses in accordance with the programme curriculum.

3.2.2 In special cases, the Conservatory may permit students to take courses and examinations corresponding to up to 30 ECTS in a Master's programme.

3.3 Prerequisites

Any special prerequisites will be set out in the course plan for each subject or project.

3.4 Organisation of the teaching

The teaching is mainly provided within a particular year group; however, the subjects and projects may also be provided in classes of students drawn from various years and/or study programmes.

Before a year of study commences, a course plan is compiled for each subject or project.

For each subject or project, the course plan contains information on its organisation, credits, premises and equipment, and class composition. In subjects where assessment is based on attendance at classes, etc., the course plan will include specific requirements towards assignments and/or presentations.

The course plan is approved by the Principal, and may be viewed on the Conservatory's intranet at the start of the semester.

4. Assessment

4.1 Object

The aim of assessment is to evaluate whether the student's qualifications comply with the programme's learning outcomes.

4.2 Rules for assessment

At Rhythmic Music Conservatory (RMC), assessment of the student's qualifications can take place in three ways:

A. Assessment on the basis of examinations at which the student's proficiency is assessed by teachers, possibly supplemented by internal and/or external examiners. The assessment awarded is a grade from the seven-point scale, possibly supplemented by a written statement, or the assessment Approved/Not approved.

B. Assessment on the basis of a submitted assignment, where the student's proficiency is assessed by teachers, possibly supplemented by internal and/or external examiners. The assessment awarded is a grade from the seven-point scale, or the assessment Approved/Not approved.

C. Assessment on the basis of the student's active subject-specific participation in the course. The assessment awarded is Approved/Not Approved.

4.3 Other provisions

All subjects must be passed before a diploma can be issued for a successfully completed study programme.

Students who depart the study programme without completing it are entitled to documentation indicating in ECTS points the parts of the study programme that have been passed.

The programme is organised in a progressive sequence, and each student is automatically registered for assessment in accordance with the student's location in the study programme.

Information on other rules governing assessment in examinations, class attendance, etc., is available on the Conservatory's intranet.

4.4 First year assessment

The Conservatory will automatically register the student for the first-year assessment prior to the end of the second semester after commencing the Bachelor programme.

In order to continue the Bachelor programme, the student must pass the first-year assessment before the end of the fourth semester.

The Conservatory may grant exemptions from this provision under special circumstances.

In the Bachelor programme, the first-year assessment is held at the end of the second semester in the subject Music Production.

4.6 Calculation of standard pages

When the descriptions refer to the size of the syllabus or written assignments, the pages referred to are in all cases standard pages of 2,400 characters (including spaces). The front cover, table of contents, bibliography and appendices do not count towards the size of the written assignments.

Written assignments may deviate from the specified number of pages by at most +/- 10%.

5. Other provisions

5.1 Language

The language of instruction is usually Danish, but teachers may provide teaching in English to individuals or small groups as necessary.

RMC also offers selected courses in English. The course plan will state the language in which each of the courses is taught.

Non-Danish-speaking students may choose to write their assignments or take their examinations in one of the other Scandinavian languages, or in English.

5.2 Rules for practical training

Any internship elements in the study programme are described in the subject descriptions and course plans for the subjects.

5.3 Rules for credit transfer

5.3.1 Equivalence

Approved programme elements taken at an academy of music that offers a study programme under the Education Order are equivalent to corresponding programme elements at other academies that offer the same programme of study.

5.3.2 Credit agreement

Credit for programme elements may be obtained under the academies' joint credit agreement.

8.3 Other credit

Study programme elements passed as part of another non-completed Danish or foreign course of higher education may substitute for study programme elements covered by the Education Order, subject to the decision of the Conservatory in each individual instance, or in accordance with rules laid down by the Conservatory.

5.4 Disciplinary measures

Students at the Rhythmic Music Conservatory are subject to the Conservatory's rules of conduct. Students are required to be familiar with and keep themselves informed of the rules. The rules of conduct may be viewed on the Conservatory's intranet.

5.5 Attendance

Attendance is compulsory at tuition and related activities at the Conservatory. The Conservatory shall lay down specific regulations for procedures and sanctions towards students who fail to observe the Conservatory's rules for attendance. The rules for attendance may be viewed on the Conservatory's intranet.

5.6 Evaluation

The study programme is subject to continuous evaluation through systematic evaluation procedures. The Conservatory shall lay down the specific procedures for the evaluations.

5.7 Exemptions

The Conservatory may grant exemptions from any rules in the curriculum that are determined solely by the Conservatory.

6. Subject descriptions

Subject description: Music Production

The main subject Music Production course aims to provide the students with technical, musical and artistic skills, qualifying for a profession as music producer. Music Production comprises studio – and live- productions.

In the course, the students obtain confidence in the world of music production terminology, tradition, history, esthetics, mechanisms, working processes, methods and technologies.

Through practical exercises and independent productions the student practices applying all the above mentioned elements and by this develop and challenge the individual expression of the student.

The subject is the core of the programme, in which the student, in a process and product-oriented practice, develops his/her artistic practice.

Where relevant, the course includes reflection of artistic process, context and result.

Key point of the working process is the individual or collectively based artistic work which is developed where the student is doing music production work. The course is planned as one, grand plan. However, it is during the course possible to initiate individual activities for a student, taking it's starting point in the particular talent and potential of a single student.

Subject description: Bachelor Project

For the music producer, it is of crucial importance to possess knowledge and skills in independent project work.

In the Bachelor Project, the student develops and carries out an extensive project within the field of the main subject Music Production.

In this work, students apply and utilise their overall professional skills, knowledge and competencies. Students are thus given an opportunity to give their Bachelor study programmes an individual profile, and the project can thereby serve as an indicator in relation to the student’s future career and educational choices.

Subject description: Music Education and Learning

For the music producer, teaching in the broadest sense often comprises a significant part of an overall professional career.

In the subject Music Education and Learning, work is done to develop ways, by which the student by new methods and innovative and collaboration- based practices within learning and teaching can create frameworks for and motivate, inspire and challenge the development of others.

The work alternates between practice and reflection in order to develop teaching practices, in which different collaborative formats, hereunder digital formats, are given a high priority and with a focus on developing relevant skills and knowledge for continuously to be able to reason and develop practice. The course is delivered in a progression, commencing with the building of a common knowledge base within music pedagogy from a perspective of diversity, followed by deepening in a group- based development project, derived from the specific educational profile of the individual student. This is proceeded by further development of the knowledge base, and the course is concluded with an independent and individual practice project to be carried out in collaboration with external partners.

Subject description: Composition

Within contemporary rhythmic music, creative practice is central. In the subject Composition, the student’s compositional skills are trained in a practice-based learning environment on the basis of the student’s own compositional work. On the basis of work analysis, inter alia, the subject focuses on a wide variety of compositional aspects of combining and structuring notes, sounds and rhythms. This forms the foundation for specific composition methods that students can use in their own compositional work. The teaching takes place with respect for the individual student’s musical and technical standpoint, with the goal of achieving fruitful development of the student’s compositional potential.

The student’s development in the subject is viewed in close association with studies in the subjects Music Production and Music Education and Learning, in which product and project-oriented practice constitute an important driver.
